Statement of Mission

To distribute top quality technology, resources, and information to the global community of radionic researchers.

About Us

Located in Lakemont, Georgia, Kelly Research Technologies was incorporated in 2006 in order to sustain and advance the radionic technology developed by Peter J. Kelly from the early 1970's until his untimely passage in 2004. Core among his contributions was the design of a two-bank radionic instrument that integrated the Hieronymus design for variable plate capacitance signal tuning with the knowledge of solid state amplification he'd acquired while in service to the nation in the U.S. Navy. As a founding member of the U.S. Psychotronics Association in 1974, there were many opportunities for friends and colleagues to try the new instrument. The "Kelly Instrument" would be built for friends, then friends of friends, then in 1978 the first one was sold to a complete stranger – the first of thousands that would choose this sensitive, reliable, and easy-to-operate radionic device.

Today, Kelly Research Technologies manufactures and distributes not only the famous Kelly Personal Instrument, but also a complete line of radionic instruments designed to meet the needs of both the advanced researcher and the busy farmer. In all Kelly instruments, the combination of variable capacitance tuning and solid state amplification allows determination of scalar frequencies and assessment of their intensities through the focused intent of the trained operator, as well as transmission of in-phase and reverse phase scalar frequencies. With thousands of two-dial radionic rates available, Kelly radionic instruments are ideal for all aspects of radionic agriculture, as well as many types of amplified dowsing.

Our 30-day, no-hassle, money-back guarantee ensures that every customer has a pleasant, professional experience. Whatever your reasons, simply return the item to us in like-new condition and receive a full refund of the purchase price. Your only risk is the price of postage. Find out why we've had a great reputation in the radionics community since 1978!

Foreword

In the 100 years since radionics was first discovered by Dr. Albert Abrams there have been thousands and thousands of rates developed. Many of these patterns of information were identified by the well-known inventors of the radionic instruments: Abrams, De La Warr, Hieronymus, and my father – Peter J. Kelly – among many others. But a significant number of the rates in the KRT database were developed and discovered by everyday folks – radionic researchers who used their instruments to locate the strongest resonance points on the tuning dials for a particular sample or reagent.

Kelly Research Technologies has been compiling and developing radionic rates for 40 years. A crowning achievement was translation of the rate book for the multi-dial De La Warr instrument to the two-dial system popularized by Hieronymus, which required setting, measuring, and recording nearly 1,500 rates on both types of instruments. In 1983 Peter published Psychotronics Book 2, a collection of historical and new rates. This book was only available for a few years before it was banned by U. S. Food and Drug Administration as a result of my dad's naïve use of terms like "diagnose", "treat", and "cure" throughout. In 1998 the information was re-released as the Electronic Rate Book: a computer database with the offending terminology removed and the ability to search and sort the rates as never before. In 2011 the E-Rate Book was totally overhauled, the ever-growing database totaling more than 13,800 rates, the ability to create worksheets and reports on the fly, as well as access and print from a library of 28 pre-formatted worksheets organized on a variety of themes and processes. One unexpected benefit that came from our overhaul of the E-Rate Book software was that the process of organizing the information into book format was suddenly a realistic goal for our tiny staff of three people.

It is thus with tremendous pride that here on the 30th anniversary of publication of Psychotronics Book 2 I introduce these two new volumes of radionic rates! Radionics Book 3 presents the rates sorted alphabetically by the name of the patterns of information. Radionics Book 4 delivers the rates sorted numerically by left hand dial and then right hand dial. Both books include every single radionic rate published in the KRT Electronic Rate Book software.

In addition to publishing these books on paper, we have also decided to publish both volumes in an electronic format that will facilitate giving them for free to anyone who wants to download a copy. Moreover, we are publishing these books under a creative commons license; you are free to copy, distribute, and transmit this work, including reposting of the PDF files on your blog or website. We only ask that the books remain attributed to us at Kelly Research Technologies, that the work never be sold without our participation, and that it will not be altered, transformed, or built upon without our participation.

PS: Do you have new radionics rates that you want to share? Send them to us for compilation in future volumes!

Dedication

Creation of these volumes would not have been possible without the assistance of Chelsey Jordan, who proofread more than 500 pages of entries and eliminated innumerable typos and errors. Also of inestimable significance has been the contribution of Bill Schmidt, whose expert management of the database has automated production and formatting of ALL of these rates. Thanks Bill – this book exists because of you.

But none of this would have been possible without the 30 years of dedication and devotion provided by a single person within our organization. One lady has been responsible for compiling these rates since her first day at KRT. She has managed migration of the database across numerous computers and software programs, learning new hardware and new ways to organize the information in the process. And she has coordinated with all of the contributors – instructors, dealers, organizations, and individuals – at the same time as she answered a continuous stream of requests for information from our peers, clients, and members of the community.

For this tremendous contribution Radionics Book 3: Radionic Rates - Alpha is dedicated to Cathie Jordan!

KRT Electronic Rate Book: Version 2012

Forged through collaboration with one of the nation’s smartest database developers, the reinvented E-Rate Book offers all the features provided by the original and many more:

- More than 13,800 radionic rates for two, four, and 360° dial instruments
- Enhanced supporting information to drive successful use of radionic rates
- Advanced search and sorting capabilities provide easy access to information
- Ability to produce customized worksheets and reports
- An integrated library of 28 of the most commonly used radionic worksheets
- Advanced “help” functions provide step-by-step instructions for every use
- Easy-to-use interface with no hidden menus or programming codes required!

Version 2012 of the KRT Electronic Rate Book is the ultimate rate resource for operators of all radionic instruments that utilize the two dial rate format, utilized by Hieronymus, Kelly, Mattioda, Lightning, Rogers, and the SE-5.

How to Use this Book

Patterns of Information: Every radionic rate in this book was originally identified when a trained operator used a two-dial radionics tuner to locate a pattern of energetic resonance and/or interference from a sample, witness, or their own focused intent. This unique resonant or dissonant relationship with the original sample provides the basis for the researcher’s efforts to alter the energetic balance in the crop, soil, or barn. An alphabetic listing of this information allows the users to quickly locate rates that other users have identified as having resonance in similar situations and may provide clues in the search for the cause behind the cause in a given situation.

However, it is also important to remember that the names given to these rates by their discoverers may or may not apply to the specific situation being considered by the current researcher. Whether or not a particular pattern of information is actually applicable to that situation must be tested by that operator at that time. Always test for desirability, suitability, and permission before broadcasting.

Rates: All rates are presented in pairs with two digits of decimal accuracy for each rate. Remember that fractional amounts to the right of the decimal point are the fractions of the space between tick marks on the rate dial. The shortest tick mark shown on the KRT rate dial is 0.50 (see Figure 5). The examples in Figure 3 will be used to illustrate how radionics rates are presented in this book:

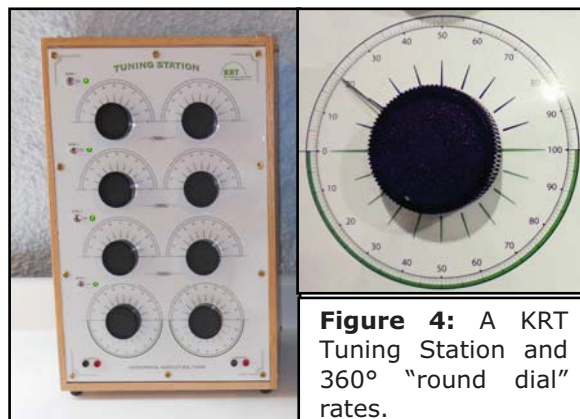

Immune System, Molecule, Cytokines, May be causative factor in Wasting Types Diseases	34.00	54.25
Implant Mechanism, (1) Negative Entity	36.50	36.50
	21.00	05.50
Mold, Rinkel Mold Mix A	-97.50	23.25
Moles & Warts	26.00	32.50

Single Bank Rates - The majority of rates in the KRT database require only a single rate bank to use. Moles & Warts is a typical single-bank rate and would be set on the instrument by turning the left dial until the needle was set to 26.00, setting the right hand dial to 32.50, then activate that bank by turning on the switch. Note that both the left and right hand dials must be set in order to achieve the desired information or impact. The rate for Immune System, Molecule, Cytokines would be utilized in the same manner.

Multiple Bank Rates – Multiple bank rates provide additional frequency information about a pattern of energy, thus improving resolution in analysis and resonance when broadcasting. In this book multiple bank rates are shown as additional rows of instrument settings printed within the same block. Implant Mechanism is an example of a two bank rate. To use, set 36.50-36.50 on Bank 1, 21.00-05.50 on Bank 2, and turn on both bank switches.

Round Dial Rates – Some radionic instruments are equipped with 360° rate dials that allow the researcher to explore the other half of the waveform when identifying a pattern of energetic resonance in a sample (see Figure 4). With Mold, Rinkel Mold the operator will set -97.50 in the “green field” area of the dial on a Kelly instrument, such as a Seeker, Workstation, or Tuning Station. Note that the minus sign only applies to the one rate. The right hand dial setting of 23.25 will be set in the black-only upper part of the dial.

Note to users of non-Kelly instruments equipped with 360° rate dials. Be sure to check the numerical arrangement on the lower part of your 360 degree rate dials before using a rate from this book. On some instruments the number "100" is followed immediately by the number "-1" rather than "-99" as shown on Kelly instruments. Because all round dial rates in the Kelly database are configured for our own instruments, users of instruments configured the other way must be sure to convert the rate for use with their instrument by subtracting the number from -100.00. For example, for Mold, Rinkel Mold: $-100.00 - (-97.50) = -2.50$, the rate set on the "100=0" style instruments made by other vendors. See page 505 for more information on the 100=100 rate dial.

Energetic Processes

This field of the database often provides supplementary information intended to help the radionic researcher use the listed Pattern of Information successfully. More specific information may include:

- Analysis-only Rates: Some rates are intended to be used in analysis mode only. If so, this will be noted in the "Energetic Processes" field and, usually, the correct rate for balancing will be provided.
- B/R: Simply means "balance on rate" - use the listed rate for the broadcast.
- Complementary Rates: This field will often include rates that can be tested at the same time or in series with the primary rate listed. Always test for applicability.
- Frequencies: Abbreviated as "Freq", the frequencies listed in the Energetic Processes field are non-radionic waveforms listed in cycles per second, or Hertz. Some of these would be audible tones if played from a signal generator equipped with a speaker, while others would be above or below the range of typical human hearing. Frequencies listed should be treated as electronic reagents, which is to say that they can be used concurrently during balancing broadcasts to increase impact or effectiveness.

Remember that all information captured in the "Energetic Processes" field was developed/discovered by an individual working on a specific set of challenges at a particular time. Always test to verify that the information presented is relevant and appropriate for the research you are doing at this time.

Note on using reagents: Whether the reagent is an electronic frequency (added through the "SIGNAL IN" port) or a sample of a color, essential oil, or supplement (placed in the input well), every reagent must be tested to ensure that the desired impact is being achieved. The primary question for the researcher should be,

Does this reagent increase or decrease the energetic resonance of my research subject?"

Does adding the reagent or the frequency make the General Vitality or part of the organism go up or down? If it is a pathological pattern of information, does the reagent/frequency make it weaker or stronger? Testing the applicability of a reagent only requires taking a new reading on the intensity dial to verify that the desired outcome will be achieved.
